

Reflectance forms the map background; depth-coloured points are overlaid at the matching sample-cell locations.